Expressing a brand

Wanting to express their brand in their new office environment, Crawford wished to see their company graphics used as a key feature in the office design. Working closely with the Crawford team, we created a modern workspace that Crawford could feel proud of and that reflected their global presence. Another key consideration was simplicity. Although there's high occupant density, the new space doesn't feel complex or crowded. Bright colours and elegant lights complement each other to create a modern yet professional workspace.
