

Case Study of:

Hilti

At a glance

People: 40
Size: 400m²

Services supplied

Design Services
Project Management

"Stack did an amazing job on our office fitout, and we are extremely delighted with the outcome and the way they took concept and design to fulfilment of the best office space we have ever had"

Alistair Dickie, Hilti, CEO

Designing for growth

As a rapidly growing multinational company, Hilti Group's new Auckland HQ presented many opportunities.

The modular layout allows for desk sharing so that additional or offsite staff, or project teams, can be easily accommodated. To allow effective video conference communication with sister branches across the world, two VC booths are provided (the boardroom is also VC enabled). Vast breakout spaces allow work and meetings to take place anywhere in the office, with the café acting as a more informal and larger capacity setting

STACK

STACK

