Helping people perform their best

Adidas' new Auckland head office combines form and function, and celebrates their strong relationship with New Zealand sport. Our creative office design is highly flexible, accommodating a variety of needs, from product displays to fashion shows. Like Adidas' products, the modern workspace allows the team to perform their best. Personality was infused throughout the space with the trademark three stripes. Imagery of their sponsorship of the All Blacks and other NZ sporting teams brings the excitement of Adidas' brand to life for visitors and staff.
