Designing the newsroom of the future

Today's media environment is fast paced and constantly evolving, and traditional news-media outlets need to keep pace with it: enter Newshub. STACK created a workspace that radiates from a central hub. Multiple touchdown spaces with TVs enable staff collaboration and low-tech informal meeting spaces encourage interaction. The strong industrial heritage of the building fabric is exposed and embraced, yet warmed by colour and natural materials. Ceilings are removed to enhance the feeling of spaciousness and also provide services access.
